

FIS ENERGY TRADING, RISK & LOGISTICS PLATFORM

FORMERLY ALIGNE

The Cloud-Native Platform for Streamlined Energy Trading, Risk Management and Operations

Energy companies face highly volatile and tightly regulated markets. They're also under pressure to improve sustainability, digitalize their operations and offer new business models.

Smart energy companies are transforming energy trading and risk management (ETRM). They're looking for a simple-to-use ETRM platform that empowers them to handle high trading volume, implement effective risk controls and meet regulatory requirements.

FIS® Energy Trading, Risk and Logistics Platform optimizes trading, risk management and operations of physical energy commodities and their associated financial instruments. It supports gas and power commodities, weather, emissions, coal, fuels, refined products, liquefied natural gas (LNG), FX and derivatives worldwide.

Energy Trading, Risk and Logistics Platform helps calculate mark-to-market positions in real-time across organizations, capture physical and financial instruments for multiple commodities, and aggregate and analyze historical and interval market data from multiple sources. This platform has the ability to nominate gas on pipelines and manage storage inventory, as well as power scheduling and spot bidding processes, making it the ideal solution for traders and utilities.

Build confidence and boost margins by leveraging FIS Energy Trading, Risk and Logistics Platform as your one resource for energy expertise, real-time trading information, and risk defense.
