

Keep up with ever-changing payment schemes

Unlock simpler money movement and growth with a single gateway to all payment schemes

In a crowded banking market, there are more ways than ever for customers to send and receive payments. To remain competitive, financial institutions need to ensure support for a wide range of payment types.

But it can take considerable effort and overhead to connect to and manage different payment schemes and keep money moving safely and efficiently for your customers.

FIS® Money Movement Hub provides a simple, modern, cost-effective solution. Through a single point of integration to a full range of U.S. payment schemes, it will allow you to deliver all the payment types your customers expect – from real-time payments via TCH RTP or FedNow to ACH, high-value domestic, international, wire and P2P payments.

Here are three key ways our cloud-native solution will help you harmonize money movement to unlock strategic growth.

1. Expand your reach with modern payment options

Differentiate your bank or credit union with modern payment capabilities and enable retail and small business customers to send and receive real-time, as well as batch, payments.

2. Ensure seamless compliance and fraud protection

Trust FIS to stay ahead of the compliance and technology requirements of every payment scheme, delivering economies of scale and always-on fraud protection.

3. Simplify and scale payments with cloud integration

Through a single API, access one cloud-based, pay-as-you-grow tech stack that simplifies your operations, helps reduce your costs and scales with your business.

Outpace modern payments with FIS

Join us in the continued evolution of payments and meet the market's ever-changing demands with more innovation and less cost and risk. Unlock limitless possibilities for payments transformation and growth with one technology partner.
