

FIS Money Movement Hub

A simple, cost-effective and secure new way to connect to all modern payment schemes – fast

To compete effectively with larger banks and fintechs, regional and community banks and credit unions must give their customers the ability to both send and receive instant or real-time payments.

But it can take considerable effort and capital outlay to connect to instant payment schemes and get money moving in real time.

Your existing infrastructure may not have the capacity or capability to handle the technologies underpinning the latest scheme, and you'll likely need to meet new technical or regulatory requirements. Then, when the next new scheme arrives, it's time to do the same work all over again.

FIS[®] Money Movement Hub does all the hard work on your behalf by providing a hosted single gateway to a full range of U.S. payment schemes.

With a single API, Money Movement Hub seamlessly connects any core banking system to instant payment rails like RTP[®] and FedNow as well as person-to-person, ACH and wire payment capabilities. Now you can unlock a smooth and accurate flow of funds for your customers – delivering seamless digital experiences for consumers and helping businesses improve cash flow and liquidity.

Attract more customers

Stay relevant and differentiate your bank or credit union by enabling retail and small business customers to initiate and accept instant payments.

Simplify compliance

Trust your technology partner to stay on top of the regulatory and technical requirements of every new payment scheme, so you don't have to.

Streamline operations

Access a cloud-based solution that scales with your business as it grows. Choose which schemes to turn on and when, while only paying for what you use.

Help reduce complexity and costs

Money Movement Hub delivers a one-stop, consolidated, cost-effective solution which lets you plug and play a full range of payment schemes and means you don't have to build multiple costly integrations from scratch.

Rely on 24/7 safety and support

With our team covering you when your staff are out of the office, the solution keeps money movement fast, frictionless and safe for consumers and businesses alike, with always-on fraud protection.

Modernize your payments

Powered by the latest cloud-native technology, Money Movement Hub allows you to digitalize, consolidate and better run your payment operations as a whole – while passing on economies of scale.
